Good Afternoon and Welcome to Kiwanis

Tom's Talk

It's Friday, welcome to Kiwanis!

The Queen is dead, long live the King! These are the words I've seen shouted in Movies about the British monarchy as the torch is passed from one ruler to an heir to the throne. Yesterday a legendary monarch, Queen Elizabeth II ended her earthly reign, and the title will be passed to her son, King Charles III. All that I know of her is what I've read and seen in documentaries, but it seemed that she dedicated her life to making her subjects life better and tended to her duties. May she Rest In Peace, one of the last of a generation that put service above self.

Kind of like a Kiwanian, really... we give up a small amount of our personal and family time to make our community a better place for future generations by focusing on the next generation of citizens, some will be future community leaders. Let's always try to make a difference.

And... speaking of a transfer of leadership, our annual officer's installation banquet will be held at Fox Creek on September 27 at 6:00 pm. There, Lt.

TODAY'S SONG

SMILE

Smile and the world
smiles with you sing a song.

Don't be weary,
just be cheery all day long.

Whenever your trials,
your troubles and your cares
seem to be more than you can really bear.

Smile and the world
smiles with you sing a song.

Governor Lyndal Waits will read the charge to your new leaders, both officers and board members to guide the club into the next Kiwanis year.

Quite frankly, I am far more optimistic about Bill Cline becoming our new President than I am about King Charles III leading Britain, but that's just my opinion. I am so excited about the future of our club, there are so many smart, capable, and talented folks being inducted, our future is bright.

I encourage all of you to attend with your significant other/spouse or best friend in tow for the banquet, I promise it will be fun. Tuxedos and formal gowns are not recommended, but we are asking that this be a more than just business casual affair. I am going to wear a tie (if I can remember how to tie one, otherwise I suppose I'm in the market for a clip on), but they are not necessary. Signup sheets will be going around beginning today.

Our first ever Cornhole tournament will be held on the 24th of this month, more details coming, let's all chip in and help or compete, the prize $$ are really substantial.

We are in our last month for the 2021-2022 Kiwanis administrative year, so let's finish with a bang!

Laugh Lines

I just like to sleep naked. The flight attendant could have been a bit more understanding.
